Re: Veasey v. Perry, No. 2:13-cv-193 (S.D. Tex.), ECF No. 180

Dear Ms. Westfall,

The purpose of this letter is to address, as suggested by the Court in its March 4, 2014 hearing, two definitions used in the Defendants' First and Second Requests for Production of Documents to Plaintiff United States of America: "You & your" and "Electronically stored information." The United States' Motion for Protective Order to Limit Extent of Defendants' First Request for Production of Documents, ECF No. 180, ("Motion for Protective Order") only requests the amending of the two definitions as they apply to Defendants' First Request. However, on March 10, 2014, the United States served its Responses and Objections to Defendants' Second Requests for Production of Documents and objected to the definitions of the same two terms at issue in the Motion for Protective Order. Therefore, the Defendants propose to amend the two definitions used in both their First and Second Requests as follows below.

Should you continue to believe these definitions to be overbroad, the Defendants are willing to specify Requests for Production to which the definitions should apply. Please respond by the close of business on March 12, 2014, as to whether you agree to these proposed definitions.

You and Your

The terms "you" and "your" mean the Department of Justice, the Department of Defense, the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services, the Department of State, the United States Social Security Administration, the Department of Veteran's Affairs, and the United States Congress.

- 1) “Electronic file” includes, but is not limited to, the following: electronic documents; e-mail messages and files; deleted files; temporary files; and metadata.
